GOVERNMENT'S MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION
OF COURT'S AUGUST 18, 2006 ORDER
CONVENING EVIDENTIARY HEARING

On August 18, 2006, the Court ordered a further hearing in this case, scheduled for October 4, 2006. The Court ordered that the hearing should be evidentiary, at which Michael Sullivan, the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts; Marianne C. Hinkle, formerly an Assistant United States Attorney ("AUSA") and now a district court judge for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; and an Assistant District Attorney ("ADA") should testify. The government respectfully moves this Court to reconsider and vacate its order convening an evidentiary hearing. The government further asks this Court to deny the defendant's request for dismissal of the indictment or suppression of evidence.

Procedural Background

On August 1, 2006, this Court issued a Memorandum and Order Requesting Briefing of Dual Prosecution Issue. In this memorandum, the Court invited briefing on three issues: (1) the government's Petite policy and "how [it] affects the case at bar"; (2) "what effect, if any...United States v. Lopez [has] on the legality of dual prosecution"; and (3) "the significance of the dual prosecution for the admissibility of the [defendant's July 1, 2004 guilty] plea" in Commonwealth v. Handy, Brockton District Court, Docket #0415-CR-004029 (Exhibit 1). [Docket entry #28]. The Court did not identify explicitly a remedy for the concerns expressed in its order, but suggested that these concerns might lead to suppression of the state-court guilty plea at the trial in this case. [Docket entry #28, page 2 ("If the government offers Handy's prior state plea, is it admissible in the federal prosecution?")].

In its memorandum in response to this order, the government explained that "after Handy pled guilty, the Plymouth District Attorney's Office realized that Handy had not been prosecuted using the state armed career criminal statute with its mandatory fifteen year term of incarceration...As a result, the Plymouth District Attorney's office referred the case to the United States Attorney's Office." [Docket entry #31, page 4]. The government noted that prior to indicting the defendant, it had obtained a waiver of the Department of Justice's Petite policy. [Docket entry #31, page 4]. It pointed out, however, that prosecution on both state and federal charges is constitutionally permissible under the dual sovereignty doctrine and that the government's Petite policy confers no substantive rights upon defendants.¹ [Docket entry #31, pages 5-6 and 8-9]. With respect to the Court's Lopez² inquiry, the government pointed out that the First Circuit has already found 18 U.S.C. §922(g) to be a permissible exercise of the Commerce Clause and the Court is bound by this prior precedent. [Docket entry #31, pages 10-13]. Finally, the government argued that the defendant had not established that the federal prosecution was a sham prosecution theoretically remediable under Bartkus v. Illinois, 359 U.S. 121 (1959), and United States v. Guzman, 85 F.3d 823 (1st Cir. 1996).

In his response to the Court's order, the defendant argued that the Court should either dismiss this case or suppress evidence of the defendant's state-court guilty plea. [Docket entry #33].³

¹Despite language in its first memorandum that might suggest otherwise, in the government's view, its decision to seek a waiver of the Petite policy is never reviewable.

Petite policy aside, a district court may inquire into the government's decision to prosecute only where a defendant has made a prima facie case that, inter alia, the government's selection of him for prosecution was "invidious or in bad faith, i.e., based upon such "impermissible considerations as race, religion, or the desire to prevent his exercise of constitutional rights." United States v. Bassford, 812 F.2d 16, 19 (1st Cir. 1987).

²United States v. Lopez, 514 U.S. 549 (1995).

³The defendant submitted a copy of the affidavit the defendant's state-court lawyer filed in connection with an attempt to withdraw his state-court guilty plea. That affidavit stated:

ADA Flynn stated that moments after Mr. Handy was sentenced on July 1, 2004, the ADAs in the Pre-Trial Session were called by their

The defendant claimed that the federal prosecution was just a sham federal prosecution, designed to give the state another crack at the defendant. [Docket entry #33 ("the undisputed facts establish a prima facie case both that the federal and state authorities have colluded far beyond the ordinary forms of cooperation between law enforcement agencies, and also that this federal prosecution is being used as a tool of the Plymouth County District Attorney's Office to accomplish that which it did not even seek to accomplish in state court.")]. According to the defendant, because the federal government had not identified the defendant as a subject of prosecution "prior to the Plymouth County's second thoughts about the plea agreement it entered into," [Docket entry #33, page 10], superiors and told not to take a plea in this case and that the Office would seek an indictment in Superior Court, but the call came too late. ADA Flynn stated that because another Plymouth County ADA had recently been hired by the U.S. Attorney's Office in Boston, that attorney would take the case with him in order to 'get more time' from Mr. Handy, or words to that effect.

The government asserted that according to the ADA involved, the conversation did not occur as described in the lawyer's affidavit. [8/18/06: 13-14].

It should be noted that in 2004, the AUSA in charge of the United States Attorney's gun program was Marianne C. Hinkle (now an Associate Justice in Dedham District Court). Ms. Hinkle did not come to the United States Attorney's Office from the Plymouth County District Attorney's Office and was an AUSA in this office by at least 1998. See United States v. Clay, 181 F.3d 80, 1998 WL 1085661 (1st Cir. 1998)(unpublished)(identifying Marianne C. Hinkle as the AUSA on brief).

the federal government must be viewed as merely "a tool of the state court prosecutors." [Id.].

At the hearing, the defendant acknowledged that the government's prosecution of the defendant was not racially motivated [8/18/06:4]; thus, he acknowledged implicitly that he could not establish that the government had selectively prosecuted him. [See footnote 1, above]. The defense argued, however, that the government's assertion in its memorandum that the District Attorney referred the case to the United States Attorney for federal prosecution because it realized that the defendant had not been prosecuted locally as a recidivist made out a prima facie case that the federal government's prosecution was a sham. [8/18/06: 5-6]. The Court concluded that this sequence of events made out a prima facie case of a Bartkus violation "[r]equiring now a hearing for the government to justify...the independent federal interest...other than helping out the Plymouth District Attorney's Office." [8/18/06: 12]:

We'll set this down for a hearing leaving everything up in the air because it seems to me your brief has a concession as to the basis for the referral, but it doesn't establish what the government did, the U.S. attorney's office did once it got the referral, and so it seems to me that that has to be developed.

* * *

...The question is if the only basis for the referral and the only basis for the federal prosecution is that the Plymouth County DA's Office didn't hit Mr. Handy hard enough, didn't get the 15 year mandatory minimum, the question is whether that's an independent federal interest sufficient to justify the Guzman and the Bartkus cases whether or not there has to be an investigation, something going on to suggest that this man is on a federal radar screen as opposed to a state radar screen.

[8/1/8/06: 14-15].

The Federal Government's Interest

The defendant has an extensive criminal record and is an armed career criminal under federal law. His criminal record includes the following convictions:

- In 1990, the defendant was found guilty of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute (offense date: August 12, 1990) in Dorchester District Court (Docket #90007-CR-6547), and given a suspended sentence. In 1991, the defendant violated a condition of probation and was committed to the house of correction for one year. (Exhibit 2).
- In 1994, the defendant was found guilty of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute and Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute Within 1,000 feet of a School (offense date: February 16, 1993) in the Dorchester Jury Session (Docket #9407-CR-0200), and was sentenced to two years in the house of correction, six months to serve, balance suspended. (Exhibit 3).
- In May 1995, the defendant was found guilty of Assault by a Dangerous Weapon (offense date: April 24, 1995) in West Roxbury District Court (Docket #9506-CR-1756) and received a three-month suspended sentence that, after a probation violation, was eventually imposed. (Exhibit 4).

- In November 1995, the defendant was found guilty of Prisoner Commit Assault/Assault and Battery on a Corrections Officer (offense date: October 4, 1995) in Roxbury District Court (Docket #9502-CR-7773), and sentenced to 90 days imprisonment (concurrent to the sentence then being served)(Exhibit 5).
- In November 1995, the defendant was found guilty of Assault and Battery with a Dangerous Weapon and Assault and Battery (offense date: October 13, 1992) in Brockton Trial Court (Docket #9215-CR-315345), and received a one-year committed sentence. (Exhibit 6).
- In 1997, the defendant was found guilty of Possession of a Class A Substance with Intent to Distribute (offense date: September 28, 1996) in West Roxbury District Court (Docket #9606-CR-3957) and received an 18-month committed sentence. (Exhibit 7).
- In 1998, the defendant was found guilty of Carrying a Dangerous Weapon (offense date: July 3, 1998) in Roxbury District Court (Docket #9802CR4477) and received a 30-day suspended sentence. (Exhibit 8).
- In 2000, the defendant was found guilty of Assault with a Dangerous Weapon (offense date: April 20, 1999) in Brockton Trial Court (Docket #9915-CR-002786). He was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction, six months to serve;

after violating a condition of probation, he was committed for the balance of the sentence (one year). (Exhibit 9).

- In August 2000, the defendant was found guilty of Assault and Battery with a Dangerous Weapon (offense date: April 30, 1999) in Brockton Trial Court (Docket #9915-CR-003069). He was sentenced to 18 months in the house of correction, six months to serve; after violating a condition of probation, he was committed for the balance of the sentence (one year). (Exhibit 10).
- In 2000, the defendant was found guilty of Distributing a Class A Substance and a Drug Violation Near School/Park in Roxbury District Court (Docket #0002-CR-002529) and received a one-year committed sentence. (Exhibit 11).

The defendant has many other convictions for, inter alia, illegal drug possession (1985, 1989, 1993, 1994, 1997, and 2003 convictions), receiving stolen property (1989, 1993, 1994, and 1999 convictions), credit card misuse (1992 and 1993 convictions), larceny (1993 and 1999 convictions), and threatening (1995 and 1999 convictions). A fuller record is set out in the Massachusetts Criminal History Systems Record introduced by the government as an exhibit during the detention hearing on August 10, 2005 (Exhibit 12).

In sum, the defendant is the paradigm offender under the Armed Career Criminal Act, 18 U.S.C. §924(e) (the "ACCA"): he is a repeat offender who is responsible for numerous drug and violent crimes and whose incapacitation through imprisonment will help reduce both state and federal crime. The ACCA, when enacted in 1984, was intended "to supplement the States' law enforcement efforts against 'career' criminals." Taylor v. United States, 495 U.S. 575, 581 (1984)(reviewing legislative history); House Report 98-1073, reprinted in 1984 U.S.C.C.A.N. 3661, 3661 ("This bill is designed to increase the participation of the federal law enforcement system in efforts to curb armed, habitual (career) criminals."); id. ("Statistics indicate that nearly 25 million American households - 3 out of every 10 - were affected by crimes involving theft or violence. It has also become increasingly clear that a large percentage of these crimes are committed by a very small percentage of repeat offenders.*Both Congress and local prosecutors around the nation have recognized the importance of incapacitating these repeat offenders."). Prior to its 1986 amendment (when, among other things, Congress added "serious drug offense" to the Act's list of predicates), "witnesses [at House and Senate hearings] reiterated the concerns that prompted the original enactment of the enhancement provision in 1984: the large proportion of crimes committed by a small number of career offenders, and the inadequacy of state prosecutorial resources to address this problem." Taylor, 495 U.S. at 583. The ACCA envisions that the federal government will respond to a state prosecutor's request that a defendant be federally prosecuted by considering the merits of a federal prosecution. See House Report No. 98-1073, reprinted in 1984 U.S.C.C.A.N. 3661, 3665-3665 ("under [the] approach [envisioned by the ACCA] if the local authorities arrest a three-time loser in possession of a gun...and can convince the U.S. Attorney that circumstances warrant prosecution under the enhanced penalty provisions of this bill, the mandatory 15-year penalty is available.").

Since the enactment of the ACCA, the prosecution of armed career criminals has remained a national priority. In 2001, President Bush announced Project Safe Neighborhoods ("PSN"), a "comprehensive, gun reduction strategy" that links federal, state, and local law enforcement together to "provide a multifaceted approach to deterring and punishing gun crime." See Bureau of Justice Assistance, Project Safe Neighborhoods: America's Network Against Gun Violence (June 2004)(Exhibit 13). Boston was one of the pioneers of PSN and, in fact, Brockton - where the defendant in this case possessed a firearm in violation of 18 U.S.C. §922(g) -- is one of the district's target cities. Under PSN, District Attorneys in targeted communities collaborate with the U.S. Attorney's Office to, inter alia, "refer firearm related cases for potential federal prosecution when viable." [Id.].

Here, just as PSN is meant to operate, the defendant was referred to the federal government by the Plymouth County District Attorney's Office. The federal government then decided - on its own - that the state prosecution did not vindicate the federal government's interest in deterring and punishing armed career criminals and that a federal gun prosecution was warranted in this case. [Exhibit 14 (request for waiver of Petite Policy; United States Attorney requested waiver because the defendant is an armed career criminal under 18 U.S.C. §924(e) who has numerous prior convictions, the offense occurred in one of the PSN target cites for the district, and "the state-court sentence fails to adequately vindicate the substantial federal interest here"); and Exhibit 15 (waiver; Department of Justice granted waiver because "the state prosecution failed to vindicate federal interests")].⁴

Relevant Law

In Bartkus, the Supreme Court rejected a defendant's claim that his state-court conviction should be set aside because the case followed an unsuccessful federal prosecution. In dicta, the Court pointed out that although the federal government had turned over its evidence to the state, the second case "was undertaken by state prosecuting officials within their discretionary responsibility and on the basis of evidence that conduct contrary to [their] penal code...had occurred in their jurisdiction." 359 U.S. at 123. The evidence did not, the Court found, support the claim that the state government was "merely a tool of the federal authorities, who thereby avoided the prohibition of the Fifth Amendment against a retrial." Id. This dicta has become known as the Bartkus exception.

⁴The government has chosen to produce its request for a waiver of the Petite policy and the waiver it received from the Department of Justice in light of the present posture of the case. As noted earlier, however, the Petite policy confers no rights on the defendant. See, for example, United States v. Gary, 74 F.3d 304 (1st Cir. 1996), and United States v. McCoy, 977 F.2d 706 (1st Cir. 1992). The documents are not discoverable and the government does not intend to produce them whenever a defendant makes a Bartkus claim.

In Guzman, the First Circuit accepted the existence of the Bartkus exception to the dual sovereignty doctrine, but emphasized that it was a "narrow" exception and "limited to situations in which one sovereign so thoroughly dominates or manipulates the prosecutorial machinery of another that the latter retains little or no volition in its own proceedings." Guzman, 85 F.3d at 827. Under Guzman, the defendant must produce some evidence tending to prove that the rule should not apply because one sovereign was a pawn of the other, with the result that the notion of two supposedly independent prosecutions is merely a sham. If the defendant proffers evidence sufficient to support such a finding--in effect, a prima facie case--the government must shoulder the burden of proving that one sovereign did not orchestrate both prosecutions, or, put another way, that one sovereign was not a tool of the other.

Guzman, 85 F.3d at 827.

The rendering of routine inter-governmental assistance does not establish a prima facie case under Bartkus. Guzman, 85 F.3d at 828 (federal government's drug prosecution following the defendant's conviction in St. Maarten did not implicate Bartkus, even though both cases involved a single attempted smuggle of drugs and the federal government assisted in the St. Maarten case; the routine inter-governmental assistance that occurred did not establish that the Dutch authorities "were merely handmaidens of the DEA or that the Dutch prosecution was in a reality a prosecution undertaken sub rosa by the United States"). See also United States v. Coker, 433 F.3d 39, 46 (1st Cir. 2005)(state's notification of ATF of the possibility of federal prosecution and the subsequent investigation of defendant by both sovereigns for a period of time did not establish that the federal government's prosecution was a sham for purposes of analyzing the defendant's Sixth Amendment claim).

A prima facie case is also not established when a state prosecuting agency refers a case for federal prosecution because it has unsuccessfully prosecuted the defendant -- either by losing the case entirely or by failing to obtain an adequate state sentence. For example, in United States v. Tirrell, 120 F.3d 670, 677 (7th Cir. 1997), the Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit found that a state government's referral of a case for federal prosecution after a disappointing state prosecution was not a sufficient basis for a Bartkus claim. In Tirrell, the defendant received a probationary sentence for unlawful use of firearms in state court. The county attorney, apparently dissatisfied with this sentence, referred the case for federal prosecution and the defendant was thereafter indicted and convicted of being a felon in possession of a firearm under 18 U.S.C. §922(g). The Tirrell Court found that these facts did not establish a prima facie case under Bartkus (assuming the Bartkus exception to exist): "no evidence suggests that the federal government was acting as a mere puppet of the state. The state merely requested the United States to prosecute Mr. Tirrell a second time." 120 F.3d at 677. See also United States v. Angleton, 314 F.3d 767 (5th Cir. 2002)(the federal government's failure to investigate the murder leading to federal murder-for-hire charge until contacted by the Harris County District Attorney's Office which had unsuccessfully prosecuted the defendant on a related state charge did not establish a prima facie case under Bartkus); and United States v. Trammell, 133 F.3d 1343, 1349-1351 (10th Cir. 1998)(federal fraud prosecution was not a sham, even though the state government referred the case for federal prosecution after the state court granted the defendant's motion for judgment of acquittal; "[i]t is...irrelevant that a state prosecutor, after unsuccessfully prosecuting a defendant, encourages or requests federal authorities to prosecute the defendant.").⁵

⁵The Trammell court also found that "a defendant is not entitled to application of the exception simply because the same attorney represented both the state and the United States in the two prosecutions against the defendant." 133 F.3d at 1350. See also United States v. Johnson, 169 F.3d 1092, 1096 (8th Cir. 1999)(although the AUSA prosecuting the defendant had been a county attorney holding a dual appointment as a Special AUSA at the time

United States v. Leathers, 354 F.3d 955 (8th Cir.), cert denied, 543 U.S. 844 (2004), is also instructive. There, the Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit found that even if the Bartkus exception exists, the state prosecutor's referral of the case to the federal government after a disappointing post-verdict bail hearing, 354 F.3d at 959 (and possibly in anticipation of an inadequate state sentence, 354 F.3d at 961), did not establish a prima facie case under Bartkus:

A referral made by a state prosecutor does not undermine the independence of federal prosecutors, regardless of the state prosecutor's motives in making the referral. The inquiry is not whether the prosecution would have taken place but for the referral, but rather whether the state has effectively manipulated the actions of the federal government, so that the federal officials retained little or no independent volition.

(internal quotation marks and citation deleted).

The case law thus compels the conclusion that the defendant has failed to establish a prima facie case under Bartkus. All the defendant has asserted -- indeed, that the government has of the state prosecution, there was no evidence that he actually participated in the state prosecution and plea agreement; for this and other reasons, the defendant failed to establish that the federal case was a sham prosecution).

The defendant's unsubstantiated allegation that an unidentified ADA left the Plymouth County District Attorney's office to work for the federal government and brought the defendant's case with him (an allegation that the government disputes; see footnote 3, above) does not establish a Bartkus claim under Trammel and Johnson.

acknowledged -- is that the state referred the defendant's case to the government after it realized that it had failed to prosecute him as a recidivist. Such a referral does not establish a prima facie case that the federal government did not act independently and that its prosecution therefore is a sham. Nor could it, given the government's independent interest in prosecuting armed career criminals. Cf. United States v. Berry, 164 F.3d 844 (3rd Cir. 1999)(rejecting Bartkus claim because, inter alia, the defendant's case was "selected for federal prosecution based on facts implicating valid federal interests," for example, the defendant's status as a career offender under the Sentencing Guidelines). Moreover, the record now before the Court makes it abundantly clear (even assuming, that is, that it was not clear before) that the government independently determined that the state's prosecution did not vindicate the federal government's interest in incapacitating armed career criminals.⁶ A prima facie case is not established when "the sovereign bringing the second prosecution was acting independently." Johnson, 169 F.3d at 1096 (federal drug prosecution following state conviction and sentence on related drug ⁶Indeed, the Petite policy ensures that the federal government (through the United States Attorney and then through Department of Justice in Washington, D.C.) will take an independent look at the case and that a prosecution will be pursued only if it will serve "compelling interests of federal law enforcement." See, e.g., United States v. Gary, 74 F.3d 304, 313 (1st Cir. 1996)(exceptions to the Petite policy "are made only if the prosecution will serve compelling interests of federal law enforcement.").

charges was not a sham prosecution).

Conclusion

In sum, the defendant has not established a prima facie case that the government's prosecution is a sham, and there is no legitimate reason to further inquire into the government's charging decision or to require the United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts⁷ and a state-court judge to divert their attention from other important duties to testify here. The Court should reconsider and vacate its August 18, 2006 order requiring an evidentiary hearing, and it should deny the defendant's request for dismissal or suppression.⁸ In any event, for the reasons set out ⁷The United States Attorney has also been designated by President Bush to be the Acting Director of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives, and has responsibilities outside of the District of Massachusetts.

⁸In his Defendant's Memorandum Re: Dual Prosecution Issues, the defendant also claimed that his state-court plea should be suppressed under United States v. Bouthot, 878 F.2d 1506 (1st Cir. 1989). Bouthot is unavailing. The Bouthot court stated that a plea-bargaining defendant does not have "a constitutional right to information possessed by the prosecutor regarding an ongoing or potential prosecution by another sovereign." 878 F.2d at 1512. Absent evidence of misrepresentation, the state guilty plea is admissible. Id. See also United States v. Campusano, 947 F.2d 1, 5 (1st Cir. 1994). Here, the defendant has not alleged that the state made a misrepresentation regarding federal prosecution. Nor does the transcript of the state-court plea (Exhibit 16) reveal any misrepresentations. Thus, the defendant's Bouthot claim must be rejected.

The defendant's FRE 403 claim is, in the government's view, without merit (e.g., some of the conversations which the defendant claims he would seek to introduce and which would prolong the trial would not be admissible), but the issue is premature in any event. The government has not decided whether it will seek to introduce

SECTION II: PLEA OR ADMISSION ACCEPTED BY THE COURT

The Court ☒ ACCEPTS the tendered Plea or Admission on defendant's terms set forth in Section I. and will impose sentence in accordance with said terms, subject to submission of defendant's written WAIVER (see Section IV on reverse of this form), completion of the required oral COLLOQUY, a determination that there is a FACTUAL BASIS for the Plea or Admission, and notice of ALIEN RIGHTS.

SECTION III

PLEA OR ADMISSION REJECTED BY THE COURT

The Court: ☐ REJECTS the defendant's dispositional terms set forth above and, in accordance with Mass. R. Crim. P. 12(c) (6), has set forth to defendant the dispositional terms it would find acceptable, to wit:

DEFENDANT'S DECISION IF COURT REJECTS TENDERED PLEA OR ADMISSION:

- ☐ Defendant WITHDRAWS the tendered Plea or Admission; the parties must complete and file a Pretrial Conference Report, a Pretrial Hearing must be conducted and a trial date scheduled, if necessary.
- ☐ Defendant ACCEPTS terms set forth by the Court, a Plea or Admission will be accepted by the court and said dispositional terms imposed, subject to submission of defendant's written WAIVER (see Section IV on reverse of this form). Completion of the required oral COLLOQUY, a determination that there is a FACTUAL BASIS for the Plea or Admission, and notice of ALIEN RIGHTS.

SECTION IVDEFENDANT'S WAIVER OF RIGHTS (G.L.c. 263, § 6) & ALIEN RIGHTS NOTICE (G.L.c. 278, § 29D)

I, the undersigned defendant, understand and acknowledge that I am voluntarily giving up the right to be tried by a jury or a judge without a jury on these charges.

I have discussed my constitutional and other rights with my attorney. I understand that the jury would consist of six jurors chosen at random from the community, and that I could participate in selecting those jurors, who would determine unanimously whether I was guilty or not guilty. I understand that by entering my plea of guilty or admission, I will also be giving up my right to confront, cross-examine, and compel the attendance of witnesses; to present evidence in my defense; to remain silent and refuse to testify or provide evidence against myself by asserting my privilege against self-incrimination, all with the assistance of my defense attorney; and to be presumed innocent until proven guilty by the prosecution beyond a reasonable doubt.

I am aware of the nature and elements of the charge or charges to which I am entering my guilty plea or admission. I am also aware of the nature and range of the possible sentence or sentences.

My guilty plea or admission is not the result of force or threats. It is not the result of assurances or promises, other than any agreed-upon recommendation by the prosecution, as set forth in Section I of this form. I have decided to plead guilty, or admit to sufficient facts, voluntarily and freely.

I am not now under the influence of any drug, medication, liquor or other substance that would impair ability to fully understand the constitutional and statutory rights that I am waiving when I plead guilty, or admit to sufficient facts to support a finding of guilty.

I understand that if I am not a citizen of the United States, conviction of this offense may have the consequences of deportation, exclusion from admission to the United States, or denial of naturalization, pursuant to the laws of the United States.

SECTION VDEFENSE COUNSEL'S CERTIFICATE (G.L.c. 218, § 26A)

As required by G.L.c. 218, § 26A, I certify that as legal counsel to the defendant in this case, I have explained to the defendant the above-stated provisions of law regarding the defendant's waiver of jury trial and rights so as to enable the defendant to tender his or her plea of guilty or admission knowing, intelligently and voluntarily.

SECTION VIJUDGE'S CERTIFICATION

I, the undersigned Justice of the District Court, addressed the defendant directly in open court. I made appropriate inquiry into the education and background of the defendant and am satisfied that he or she fully understands all of his or her rights as set forth in Section IV of this form, and that he or she is not under the influence of any drug, medication, liquor or other substance that would impair his or her ability to fully understand those rights. I find, after an oral colloquy with the defendant, that the defendant has knowingly, intelligently and voluntarily waived all of his or her rights as explained during these proceedings and as set forth in this form.

After a hearing, I have found a factual basis for the charge(s) to which the defendant is pleading guilty or admitting and I have found that the facts as related by the prosecution and admitted by the defendant would support a conviction on the charges to which the plea or admission is made.

I further certify that the defendant was informed and advised that if he or she is not a citizen of the United States, a conviction of the offense with which he or she was charged may have the consequences of deportation, exclusion from admission to the United States, or denial of naturalization, pursuant to the laws of the United States.

Program Brief

Project Safe Neighborhoods: America's Network Against Gun Violence

Although U.S. violent crime rates have been declining steadily and are now at a 30-year low, gun violence, particularly homicide, continues to be a significant problem. Death by firearms accounted for 67 percent of all homicides in 2002.¹

To combat gun crime, in 2001 President George W. Bush created an aggressive, comprehensive gun crime reduction strategy called Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN). By linking federal, state, and local law enforcement, prosecutors, and community leaders, PSN provides a multifaceted approach to deterring and punishing gun crime. It represents a nationwide commitment to reduce gun crime by providing locally based programs with the tools and resources they need to succeed.

PSN (www.psn.gov) is committed to building effective federal, state, and local partnerships; using research tools to assist with guiding local strategies and measuring their impact; providing comprehensive training; conveying the initiative's priorities, message, and results to the community and the media; and building a strong and lasting coalition with citizens so they will be agents of change in their own communities.

About BJA

The Bureau of Justice Assistance was established in 1984 as a component of the Office of Justice Programs, U.S. Department of Justice. BJA provides leadership and resources to state, local, and tribal governments and communities to reduce crime, violence, and drug abuse and to strengthen the nation's criminal justice system. BJA provides this assistance through formula and discretionary grants, training and technical assistance, publications, and the BJA web site.

National and Local Cooperation

PSN is a partnership involving components of the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ): the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services, the U.S. Marshals Service (USMS), the Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA), the National Institute of Justice, the Executive Office for United States Attorneys (EOUSA), and the United States Attorneys' Offices. PSN also partners with national constituent organizations including the National District Attorneys Association, the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and the National Crime Prevention Council (NCPC).

In addition to the federal and national partners, Michigan State University, American University, Hobson & Associates, and the American Probation and Parole Association provide training and technical assistance to PSN.

The U.S. Attorney in each of the 94 federal judicial districts, working side by side with local law enforcement and other officials as a task force, has tailored the PSN strategy to fit the unique gun crime problem in that district. Criminals who use guns are prosecuted under federal, state, or local laws, depending on which jurisdiction can provide the most appropriate punishment. Each district engages in deterrence and prevention efforts through community outreach and media campaigns and ensures that law enforcement and prosecutors have the training necessary to make the program work. Each U.S. Attorney has designated a PSN point of contact to serve as the project coordinator and help streamline communication among the PSN task force members and partners.

To complement the PSN efforts in each district, DOJ created the Firearms Enforcement Assistance Team (FEAT), which is composed of federal staff who have expertise in PSN's core elements. FEAT also assists the districts with their implementation efforts by acting as the single point of contact within DOJ to address PSN inquiries from the federal judicial districts.

PSN is not a “one size fits all” program that is applied uniformly in all jurisdictions; rather, each local PSN task force designs its program by tailoring the five core elements of PSN to tackle its own unique gun crime problems.

PSN's Five Core Elements

For PSN to be successful, five elements are essential: partnerships, strategic planning, training, outreach, and accountability.

Partnerships. Members of the 94 PSN task forces may include federal, state, and local agencies, including the U.S. Attorney who heads each task force; state and local prosecutors; special agents in charge from ATF, USMS, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI); local and state chiefs of police; and community leaders. Each task force develops strategies to reduce gun crime and reviews and prepares gun cases for prosecution in the most appropriate forum and venue.

Strategic planning. Each PSN task force, assisted by a grant-funded research partner, creates a strategic plan tailored to address the specific dynamics of its crime problems. Plans are aimed at prosecuting violent gun offenders and intensifying federal gun law enforcement using state-of-the-art technology and intelligence-gathering techniques such as mapping crime, identifying hotspots, tracing seized crime guns, and using ballistics technology.

Training. Specialized training on current laws and trends that affect law enforcement is essential. PSN provides expansive and comprehensive training for federal, state, and local law enforcement officers and prosecutors. DOJ and its partners conduct regional cross training on firearm identification, safety, interdiction, trafficking, and tracing; federal and state firearm statutes; federal and state search and seizure laws; crime scene and evidence management; and strategic planning. U.S. Attorneys also are encouraged to conduct their own local and regional training programs.

“If you use a gun illegally, you will do hard time.”

—President George W. Bush

Outreach. Community outreach and public awareness are essential to PSN's success. U.S. Attorneys work with their local communities to increase awareness of PSN, promote community involvement, send a gun crime deterrent message, and work with citizens to develop a gun crime reduction strategy for the district, including appropriate crime prevention strategies that involve community members. To spread the word about gun crime reduction, an aggressive community outreach campaign is coupled with strong enforcement and prevention and education messages. PSN has made direct grants to districts and sponsored a national media campaign.

Outreach activities include producing and distributing literature, conducting mail campaigns, sponsoring local workshops, and producing public service announcements (PSAs), educational literature, crime prevention toolkits, billboard advertisements, press releases, and news articles. Media partners work with the local PSN task forces to identify local stakeholders, leverage the support of potential partners, identify resources, and engage members of the community in the PSN initiative.

PSN's national PSA campaign, created by DOJ in partnership with NCPC and the Ad Council, began with the “Gun Crimes Hit Home” theme, which focuses on the consequences of using guns illegally. The first PSA, “Mothers,” was launched on September 27, 2003 and portrays the pain of mothers who have lost their children to gun violence. A series entitled "Sentenced," which focuses on the pain caused to families when a loved one commits a gun crime, was officially launched on January 26, 2004. The "Gun Crimes Hit Home" message also is being emphasized in print, television, and radio advertisements.

Accountability. U.S. Attorneys must continually review gun crime reduction efforts to measure PSN's impact on reducing crime and its long-term effect. U.S. Attorneys regularly assess the effectiveness of their strategic plans and the emerging trends in their districts, and they provide semiannual progress reports to EOUSA. The reports allow the U.S.

Attorneys to describe fully both the gun crime problems in their districts and the strategies the PSN task force is employing to combat those problems.

PSN Funding

The Administration has devoted more than $1 billion to PSN for fiscal years (FYs) 2001–2004. Funds are used for various objectives, including hiring and training new assistant U.S. Attorneys to work full time on gun crime prosecutions and new state and local prosecutors to work with federal law enforcement agencies on such cases, updating and automating state criminal history records, expanding ATF's Youth Crime Gun Interdiction Initiative and Integrated Violence Reduction Strategy, expanding ATF's computerized ballistics technology, and creating a nationwide tracing system. In addition, Project ChildSafe, a separate program under PSN, distributes safety kits nationwide with cable-style gun locks and educational materials on safe gun storage.

BJA, a component of DOJ's Office of Justice Programs (OJP), administers the PSN grant funding. In FY 2001, BJA initiated the Community Gun Violence Prosecution (GVP) Program to support the hiring of state and local prosecutors who are dedicated to prosecuting violent firearm-related crimes. Funding under this program was available to all state, county, city, and tribal public prosecutor offices, including state attorney general offices that have responsibility for prosecuting matters involving firearm-related violent crime. Under this program, 311 jurisdictions received grant awards to cover 80 percent of the salary and benefits costs up to $40,000 for each of up to 4 state or local prosecutors for 3 years.

In FY 2002, BJA sponsored four new PSN grant programs. In the Research Partner/Crime Analyst and Media Outreach and Community Engagement programs, PSN task forces selected research and media partners to assist with local efforts. Project Sentry grants provided funding for juvenile-related programs. A Reducing Community Gun Violence open solicitation funded innovative ideas in reducing gun violence.

- ◆ Research Partner/Crime Analyst grants support the strategic planning and accountability components of PSN. These grants allow local governments to collect and appropriately analyze accurate data to develop data-driven strategies to reduce gun crime. A research partner was selected for each of the 94 U.S. Attorney districts that will receive up to $150,000 over 3 years.
- ◆ Media Outreach and Community Engagement grants provide resources to publicize a strict enforcement message, encourage citizens to work with law enforcement to address firearm-related crime in their communities, and promote gun safety at the local level. Similar to the research partner program, a media partner was selected for each of the U.S. Attorney districts that will receive up to $170,000 over 2 years.
- ◆ Project Sentry grants assist selected communities in determining the extent and nature of juvenile gun offenses and gun violence and in finding the best approach to address the problem. Such approaches may include one or any combination of the following: identifying and investigating juvenile gun crimes, prosecuting juveniles who commit offenses using guns, prosecuting adults who supply illegal firearms to juveniles, or supervising juvenile gun users once they are adjudicated or convicted. Thirty-seven awards ranging from $200,000 to $1 million were stratified among counties that had high local gun-related and total juvenile violent crime rates at different population levels.
- ◆ The Reducing Community Gun Violence open solicitation funds innovative ideas to reduce gun violence in three different areas. Forty of these competitive grants were made with an average award of $250,000 over 3 years.

In response to feedback from the field, the FY 2003 PSN program's funding allocation was changed. Instead of being awarded in separate grants for each PSN component, the FY 2003 PSN funds were consolidated and distributed as block grants. That is, each district received a base allocation, and the remaining funds were distributed based on population. This new format provided each district's task force with more flexibility in determining how the money should be spent on gun violence reduction efforts at the local level. Based on the proportion of appropriated Project Sentry funds compared to all PSN funds, 29 percent of FY 2003 PSN funds were set aside for juvenile programs. To administer these funds, each district chose a fiscal agent to enter into subgrants or contracts with individual projects to carry out the individual components of the PSN task force strategy.

The FY 2004 PSN grant program will be administered in the same manner as the FY 2003 program. In addition, through the FY 2004 National PSN Community Engagement and Media Outreach Technical Assistance Program, BJA will fund specialized support to the 94 PSN task forces. Technical assistance (TA) will be provided by a national grant recipient through a combination of onsite and office-based TA and training and through the development and the dissemination of resource materials.

In 2004, BJA also is working with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to supplement the strategies of nine U.S. Attorneys' districts focused on the prevention, investigation, and prosecution of violent crime and drug crime in public and federally assisted housing, including Native American housing. BJA is coordinating this project with HUD and OJP's American Indian and Alaska Native Affairs Desk in an effort to increase attention on gun violence reduction in public housing in general and, where appropriate, in tribal population centers.

BJA and the PSN partners also offer a series of ongoing comprehensive training and technical assistance (see "Training" under "Five Core Elements" for course examples). More than 11,000 PSN task force members have received training.

PSN Success Stories

The success of the PSN program is based on the cooperation of federal, state, and local agencies. Because of PSN, federal prosecutions of gun crime are at record levels; they have increased 68 percent from FY 2000 to FY 2003. In FY 2003, 93 percent of defendants were sentenced to some prison time; about 72 percent received sentences of at least 3 years. Descriptions of four successful PSN task forces appear below.²

Southern District of Indiana

The Southern District of Indiana has a strong PSN initiative that combines an innovative program—the Indianapolis Violence Reduction Program (IVRP)—with partnerships of federal, state, and local law enforcement and faith-based organizations. Through IVRP, the district has created a program of prevention and prosecution to deter felons from possessing firearms and ammunition. Through its faith-based approach, ministers and religious leaders have assisted with outreach and prevention efforts that have greatly enhanced the district's interaction with the community, developed a ready network of support for families at risk of firearm violence, and provided unique opportunities to deliver the PSN message. These outreach efforts are directed to and through service-oriented and/or spiritually related organizations that work to improve the quality of life for the community.

Successful community outreach efforts focusing on PSN have been made in schools as part of a program called Educating Kids About Guns (EKG) and at events such as the Indiana Black Expo Summer Celebration Youth Summit and Breakfast with the Boyz and Breakfast with the Girlz, attended by 1,000 young men, women, boys, and girls. A youth scholastic basketball event delivered the PSN message. PSN participation in these events is designed to reach individuals who are believed to be most at risk and affected by gun violence. A strong law enforcement message is delivered in conjunction with the message from community and faith-based organizations that there are alternatives to violence and that assistance is available.

In addition to the strong efforts focused on prevention and deterrence, federal prosecutions in this district have increased dramatically. Federal statistics for the Southern District of Indiana from FY 2000 to FY 2003 show an increase of 154 percent for gun crime prosecutions and an increase of 141 percent in the number of defendants prosecuted. In FY 2003, 84 percent of the convicted defendants were sentenced to prison terms of more than 3 years, and 61 percent were sentenced to prison terms of more than 5 years.

Although establishing concrete links between gun crime prosecution, prevention, and deterrence efforts and a decrease in violent crime requires long-term rigorous study, preliminary results are encouraging. According to the Indianapolis Police Department, the number of homicides in the high-crime, west district has decreased by 30 percent. From 29 in 2001, the number dropped to 20 in 2002 and 21 in 2003. Moreover, homicide figures remain well below the record-high levels that occurred in 1997 and 1998, prior to implementation of IVRP.

District of Massachusetts

Boston was one of the pioneers of PSN. Its Project Ceasefire helped to set the foundation on which PSN was built and expanded. The District of Massachusetts continues to implement PSN strategies that are tailored to address the issues facing its community. As part of its PSN initiative, the district has expanded its programs to bring the most successful elements of Project Ceasefire to other major cities in the district, including Brockton, Lowell, Springfield, Holyoke, Chicopee, New Bedford, and Fall River. District attorneys' offices in these areas collaborate with the U.S. Attorney's Office to discuss strategies for proactive investigations, to confer on cases, and to refer firearm-related cases for potential federal prosecution when viable. Target cities also have been encouraged to identify hotspots of firearm violence and to use their data to design strategies to combat violence.

Recently, the District of Massachusetts teamed with its PSN media outreach partner, federal and state law enforcement agencies, and community-based service providers to launch a media campaign to target previously convicted felons. The campaign is meant to serve as a reminder to felons of the mandatory sentences faced if they are found in possession of firearms.

Other PSN programs aimed at helping individuals make good choices to remain law-abiding members of the community complement the media campaign. One such program is the Boston Reentry Initiative, in which offenders are assigned mentors to guide them in obtaining job training, substance abuse counseling, employment opportunities, and any other needed services. The severity of the penalty for offenders in possession of firearms is also reiterated. According to preliminary findings, individuals who stay active in the program have a lower rate of recidivism than would be expected for this population.

Two other collaborative initiatives take proactive approaches to preventing gun crime. Through Operation Nightlight, state probation officers and police officers make unannounced home and community visits to monitor high-risk probationers to ensure compliance with probation conditions. This initiative provides more interactive relationships between probation officers and probationers, strengthens cooperation between police and probation officers, and serves notice to the community that the police and probation officers are serious about their mission. Operation Homefront teams clergy with police to visit more than 600 at-risk minors and their families per year with the goal of preventing future

"Together in coordination with law enforcement and communities across America, we can help break the deadly link between guns and crime and keep gun-wielding criminals off our streets and out of our neighborhoods."

—Attorney General John Ashcroft

criminal behavior. The participation of clergy, who are often known to the families and welcomed into their homes, encourages parents to see police as positive figures who sincerely want to help.

In addition to these strong efforts focused on prevention and deterrence, federal prosecutions in this district continue to dramatically increase. The District of Massachusetts has seen a 157 percent increase in prosecutions from FY 2000 to FY 2003. In FY 2003, 77 percent of convicted defendants were sentenced to prison terms of more than 3 years and 47 percent were convicted to terms of more than 5 years. Statistics show that in 2002, violent crime in the district reached its lowest level in 31 years.

Western District of Tennessee

The Western District of Tennessee has formed effective partnerships with the Memphis Police Department, the district attorney, ATF, and other state and local law enforcement in its efforts to implement the PSN initiative and target felons in possession of firearms or ammunition for federal prosecution. The district's PSN task force shows an impressive level of cooperation among all involved components. A dedicated Firearms Unit is composed of the PSN coordinator, three other federal prosecutors, and one state prosecutor. The unit has ensured that the most violent offenders are charged in federal court within days of their arrest, while continuing to indict the remaining offenders in a timely manner.

The enforcement authorities of the PSN task force meet weekly to review information prepared by the Police Department's PSN unit on all arrests or citations in which a firearm was seized. This information is then cross-referenced and reviewed for prior felonies, related drug or violent crimes, and stolen or otherwise prohibited firearms. The Memphis Police Department has developed a computer database that allows all enforcement components of the PSN task force to access information for all PSN cases, enabling them to immediately identify recidivists or prior codefendants, with links to supplemental investigation reports. Indictment and disposition information in both state and federal courts is also available. Personnel who use the database praise it for allowing swift and easy access to shared information among the participating members of the PSN task force.

The cooperation within the Western District of Tennessee has led to a 407 percent increase in federal gun crime prosecutions since PSN's inception. In FY 2003, 76 percent of the convicted defendants were sentenced to prison terms of more than 3 years, and 58 percent were sentenced to more than 5 years. Firearm-related homicides fell by 16.4 percent from 2002 to 2003, and aggravated assaults committed with firearms fell by 10.7 percent.

District of Nevada

To focus on the dramatic increase in violent crime in Las Vegas, the District of Nevada has created Project EFFECT (Ex-Felon and Firearm Equals Conviction). Project EFFECT combines the efforts of ATF, state and local police, and the district attorney's office in the prosecution of felons in possession of firearms or ammunition.

Due to the district's makeup and geography, the U.S. Attorney's Office has two separate Project EFFECT programs. The first program is tailored to meet the needs of Las Vegas, which has a largely urban population, and the second program focuses on southern Nevada and is tailored to a more rural population. Weekly firearm meetings in southern Nevada bring together attendees from the U.S. Attorney's Office, the Clark County District Attorney's Office, ATF, the Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department (LVMPD), and more recently, officials from the Henderson Police Department and the North Las Vegas Police Department. Firearm cases that have occurred during the week are discussed and determinations are made as to the best manner of prosecution. The LVMPD gun crimes unit also has begun implementing a community outreach program that includes informing residents in the areas with the most gun crime about increased firearm enforcement and prosecution. This outreach is done through word of mouth by patrol officers and detectives at meetings of community, business, and faith-based groups.

As a result of these efforts, federal gun crime prosecutions in the District of Nevada have steadily increased. From FY 2000 to FY 2003, there has been a 160 percent increase in gun crime prosecutions, with an increase of 163 percent in the number of defendants prosecuted. In FY 2003, 59 percent of convicted defendants were sentenced to prison terms of more than 3 years, and 30 percent were sentenced to prison terms of more than 5 years.

Since October 2001, a very efficient and organized effort to combat violent crime has been underway in the Clark County/Las Vegas Metropolitan area. A successful PSN task force partnership has led to significant increases in both state and federal gun crime prosecutions, and its work has attracted the attention of felons in the Las Vegas area. The word on the street is that if a felon possesses a firearm, his/her case will be thoroughly reviewed for the possibility of federal prosecution.

In these 4 and in the other 90 federal judicial districts throughout the country, PSN is making America's neighborhoods safer by supporting local efforts to vigorously enforce gun laws, prosecute offenders, and prevent and deter gun crime.

Re: Dual Prosecution Waiver Request
United States v. John Handy

Dear Mr. Brown:

This office has approved, subject to a Petite Policy waiver, the prosecution of JOHN HANDY ("HANDY") (DOB: .) for felon in possession of a firearm, to wit: a Smith and Wesson, Model 10, .38 caliber semi-automatic pistol, bearing serial number 182972, in and affecting commerce, after having been convicted in a court of a felony offense, in violation of 18 United States Code, §922(g)(1). HANDY has a lengthy criminal history that would result in a fifteen year minimum mandatory sentence under the Armed Career Criminal Act, 18 U.S.C. §924(e). Through a series of miscommunications within a state prosecutor's office, HANDY was allowed to plead guilty in a state court to a reduced charge and was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The District Attorney's Office contacted the United States Attorney's Office shortly after the plea to request that we charge HANDY under federal law so that he could receive a sentence that more appropriately reflects the serious nature of his crime and his extensive criminal history. By this letter, we request a waiver of the Department's dual prosecution policy on the basis that HANDY's state court sentence fails to adequately vindicate the substantial federal interest presented here.

UNDERLYING FACTS

During the month of May, 2004, Massachusetts State Police Trooper Edward McDonald, assigned to the Plymouth County District Attorney's Office, received information from a reliable confidential informant ("CI") that an individual named "Joe" was selling heroin in the City of Brockton. Based upon the CI's information and two controlled purchases, Trooper McDonald applied for and received a state search warrant for 41 Weston Street, Brockton, Massachusetts.

The two controlled purchases of heroin took place on or about May 22 and May 26, 2004. The same sequence of events took place on both occasions. The CI called "Joe" to arrange for the purchase of heroin. The CI was searched and found to have no narcotics or money. The CI was then given money in order to purchase the heroin. The CI traveled to 41 Weston Street under law enforcement surveillance. The CI entered that building, left the building after a short time, and then met with law enforcement officers and gave them the heroin that the CI had just purchased. That substance was field tested and found to be heroin.

The CI told law enforcement that "Joe" lived at 41 Weston Street, Brockton, Massachusetts. The only utility service to 41 Weston Street was listed to Shirelle Carrigan and had been since May 2, 2003. Ms. Carrigan is the mother of the defendant's child and the owner of record of the premises. Ms. Carrigan's current Massachusetts Driver's License lists a Boston address.

The State Police obtained a state search warrant for the premises and executed it on June 2, 2004. No one answered the door when the police knocked and announced their presence. The police entered the premises to conduct the search and found HANDY hiding in his bedroom. They recovered a loaded Smith and Wesson, Model 10, .38 caliber semi automatic pistol, bearing serial number 182972 and a black leather holster under the floorboard in that bedroom near a hole in the floor. The police also recovered paperwork in Handy's name in a drawer in the same bedroom where the gun was recovered. Three pieces of mail addressed to HANDY at 41 Weston Street, Brockton, Massachusetts, dated in April and May, 2004 were taken. The police also recovered a plastic bag containing suspected heroin in a second floor hallway.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

The defendant was arrested immediately after the execution of the search warrant. He was charged in the Brockton District Court with possession of a firearm without a Firearms Identification Card and possession of a Class A controlled substance (heroin). Through a series of miscommunications within the District Attorney's Office, the defendant was allowed to plead guilty in the Brockton District Court on July 1, 2004.

The plea proceedings were tape recorded. The Assistant District Attorney explained to the Court that this case was based upon evidence recovered during the execution of a search warrant at 41 Weston Street. He told the Court that the Smith and Wesson .38 caliber firearm was recovered from under the floorboard in the residence and that a plastic bag of heroin and paperwork in the defendant's name were also recovered during the search. The Court conducted a colloquy with the defendant and, once satisfied that the defendant was voluntarily pleading guilty, accepted his guilty plea. The Commonwealth dismissed Count 1 of the complaint that charged him with illegal possession of a firearm and subjected him to a one year mandatory sentence. The defendant was sentenced on Count 2 of the complaint that charged him with possession of a firearm without a Firearms Identification Card and Count 3 that charged him with possession of heroin.

During the plea proceedings, defense counsel informed the Court that, as a result of the plea, the defendant would be facing a probation surrender in the Dorchester District Court on an unrelated charge that would subject him to a one year sentence. The Court sentenced the defendant to six months in the House of Correction on Counts 2 and 3; these sentences were to run concurrently. He is scheduled to be released from custody on that charge on November 17, 2004. In August, 2004 the defendant was surrendered in the Dorchester District Court for a probation violation as a result of the plea and received a one year sentence to run concurrently with his Brockton District Court sentence. On November 17, 2004, the defendant will be transferred from the Plymouth County House of Correction to the Suffolk County House of Correction to finish the remaining few months of his probation violation sentence. He will likely be released sometime in the Spring or Summer of 2005.

HANDY's Criminal History

HANDY's criminal history began in 1984 when he was 19 years old. He has at least ten offenses that will qualify as predicates under the Armed Career Criminal Act.

- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute in 1990 in the Dorchester District Court. He received a sentence of one year committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Assault and Battery with a Dangerous Weapon in the Brockton District Court in 1995 (the offense occurred in 1992) and received a sentence of one year committed to the House of Correction.

- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute and Distribution of Drugs in School Zone in the West Roxbury District Court in 1994 (the offense occurred in 1993) and received a sentence of 2 years committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute in the Boston Municipal Court in 1995 (the offense occurred in 1993) and received a sentence of 1 year committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class B Substance with Intent to Distribute in the Dorchester District Court in 1996 (the offense occurred in 1994) and received a sentence of 18 months committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Assault with a Dangerous Weapon in the West Roxbury District Court in 1995 and receive a sentence of 3 months committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class A Substance with Intent to Distribute in 1997 (the offense occurred in 1996) and received a sentence of 18 months committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Assault and Battery with a Dangerous Weapon in the Brockton District Court in 1999 and received a sentence of 1 year committed to the House of Correction.
- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class A Substance with Intent to Distribute in the Roxbury District Court in 2000 and received a sentence of 1 year committed to the House of Correction
- HANDY was convicted of Possession of a Class A Substance with Intent to Distribute in the Dorchester District Court in 2003 and received a 1 year suspended sentence. He was on probation for that offense when the police executed the search warrant at his residence on June 2, 2004. He was surrendered on that sentence and is now serving this sentence at the same time that he serves the six month sentence he received in Brockton.

THE PROPRIETY OF A SUBSEQUENT FEDERAL PROSECUTION

The United States Attorneys' Manual states that a subsequent federal prosecution will not be authorized unless it involves a substantial federal interest that has been left demonstrably unvindicated and that the admissible evidence probably will be sufficient to obtain a conviction. USAM Section 9-2.030.

SUBSTANTIAL FEDERAL INTEREST

Under the Project Safe Neighborhoods program ("PSN"), the prosecution of armed career criminals who possess firearms is a national priority. This offense occurred in the City of Brockton, one of the twelve PSN target cities in this District. Drug related disputes have contributed to the gun violence problems that Brockton has experienced over the past several years. HANDY has a criminal history that spans 12 years and includes convictions for crimes of violence and drug distribution. He has been prosecuted by state authorities on multiple occasions and has been sentenced to relatively brief periods of incarceration. He was on probation in state court at the time of the execution of this search warrant.

FEDERAL INTEREST LEFT UNVINDICATED

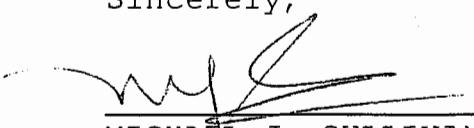

The Plymouth District Attorney's Office has an aggressive gun violence reduction program and works closely with the USAO in the PSN program. The USAO reviews firearms related arrests with the District Attorney's Office on a regular basis to identify those cases that are appropriate for federal prosecution. Through a series of miscommunications within the District Attorney's Office HANDY was allowed to plead guilty to a reduced charge and sentenced to six months imprisonment. Once this error was discovered, the District Attorney's Office contacted the USAO to request our assistance. As a result of his plea of guilty, HANDY was surrendered on his outstanding probation violation and received a one year sentence. According to the Plymouth House of Correction, he is scheduled for release from that facility on November 17, 2004. He will then be transferred to the Suffolk County House of Correction to complete the remaining months of his sentence. The exact date of HANDY's release will not be calculated until he arrives at the Suffolk County facility but it is expected that he will be released sometime in the Spring or Summer of 2005. Federal prosecution of HANDY should result in a minimum mandatory sentence of 15 years.

EVIDENCE IS SUFFICIENT TO OBTAIN A CONVICTION

CONCLUSION

HANDY is an armed career criminal who received a one year sentence for illegal possession of a firearm because of a mistake in state court. His lengthy criminal history should subject him to a fifteen year period of incarceration under federal law. For all of the reasons set out above, this office strongly requests your approval of this proposed prosecution.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL J. SULLIVAN
UNITED STATES ATTORNEY

Re: Dual Prosecution of John Handy

Dear Mr. Sullivan:

This refers to your request for a waiver of the Petite policy in order to prosecute John Handy for being a felon in possession of a firearm notwithstanding his prosecution by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for offenses in the same transaction. After reviewing your request, I have concluded that the policy applies and that a waiver is justified.

Notwithstanding Handy's extensive criminal background, which qualifies him for a mandatory minimum sentence of from fifteen years to life, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts allowed the defendant to plead guilty to related drug charges and dismissed the count for illegal possession of a firearm for which he received a sentence of six months. The state prosecution resulted from a series of miscommunications in the District Attorney's Office. As a result, the state prosecution failed to vindicate federal interests, and your request for a waiver is approved.

Sincerely,

Christopher A. Wray

PROCEEDINGS

COURT CLERK: Our next matter is John Handy.

COURT OFFICER: John Handy. John Handy?

THE CLERK: This is the custody fellow I spoke to you about.

THE COURT: Okay. We're, we're down to six months. That's a pretty good deal for him.

MR. HUMPHREYS: If the government's amendable to amending this charge down to --

THE COURT: Are you amending the, amending the charge today? I guess you are?

MR. SHYNE: Yes, Your Honor. But I would -- We're also recommending the maximum, just based on his record.

THE COURT: No, I understand that. He's also facing in, Dorchester, a one year suspended [inaudible].

MR. HUMPHREYS: I believe that that's -- htat's the, that's the view from 10,000 feet, Your Honor, is that by admitting this he's setting him-- he's gonna, something is going --

THE COURT: Right.

MR. HUMPHREYS: -- to happen in Dorchester.

THE COURT: Yeah. No argument.

MR. HUMPHREYS: And so um, we are, we are looking

Commonwealth v. Handy

1 for straight time --

2 THE COURT: Yeah.

3 MR. HUMPHREYS: -- insofar as the probation might 4 not be the best idea here.

5 THE COURT: Yeah. Oh, absolutely. Okay. Do you
6 have Mr. Handy's ah -- oh, do I -- I mean -- that's the 7 folder I've got in my hand? That sure is helpful. I know
8 what I need. The complaint. Actually what you're doing
9 here is dismissing the Count A, and pleading on Count II.
10 Count II is 10-H.

11 MR. SHYNE: Yes.

12 MR. HUMPHREYS: Oh, it is. And I believe that's 13 correct, Your Honor. I was looking at my NAC which has it 14 incorrect, but it's correct.

15 MR. SHYNE: The Commonwealth would dismiss Count
16 I.

17 THE COURT: Pleading on Count II and III? Okay.
18 You're Mr. Handy?

19 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. Handy, you're offering to 21 plead guilty at the moment to possession to a firearm
22 without an ID card in Brockton on ah, July -- ah, June 2nd, 23 and also unlawful possession of heroin, is that correct?

24 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

Commonwealth v. Handy

Page 5

1 THE COURT: Can we have the facts of the case?

2 MR. SHYNE: Certainly, Your Honor. Ah, Your
3 Honor, summarizing from the Brockton narrative ah, which 4 indicates that in May a narcotics investigation in the City
5 of Brockton led to this particular defendant, ah, John 6 Handy. A ah, controlled buys were done, Your Honor, with 7 this particular defendant on May 26th, 2004. The officers
8 sought a search warrant ah, for 41 Weston Street in 9 Brockton, Mass. On June 2nd ah, the State Police ah,
10 Narcotics Unit executed the search warrant and ah, made 11 forceful entry into that home at 41 Weston Street. Ah, the 12 search warrant ah, revealed one plastic baggie containing a 13 tan substance suspected to be heroin, ah, a Smith & Wesson
14 38 caliber handgun under the floorboard of the bedroom ah,
15 belonging to the defendant, and some miscellaneous
16 paperwork and it gave ah, the defendant's name [inaudible].

17 THE COURT: Was the one -- was anyone else
18 besides the defendant charged with -- in conjunction with 19 that weapon?

20 MR. SHYNE: Negative, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: Okay. So you would be asking for an 22 order of confiscation and destruction of that weapon?

23 MR. SHYNE: I would, Your Honor.

24 THE COURT: All right. Mr. Handy, would you

Commonwealth v. Handy

1 state your name again, sir?

2 MR. HANDY: Ah, John Henry Handy, Jr.

3 THE COURT: And how old are you?

4 MR. HANDY: Forty-one.

5 THE COURT: How far did you go in school?

6 MR. HANDY: I graduated from [inaudible].

7 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. What's, what's 8 your occupation?

9 MR. HANDY: Painter.

10 THE COURT: Have you had any drugs or alcohol in 11 the last 24 hours?

12 MR. HANDY: No, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Do you understand what you're charged 14 with?

15 MR. HANDY: Yes, sir.

16 THE COURT: As it's presently before the Court
17 possession of a firearm without an F-I-D card, as it's 18 alleged, carries a possible punishment of up to two years
19 in jail. It's not a mandatory sentence [inaudible].
20 Possession of, of heroin carries a possible punishment of 21 up to a year in jail.

22 MR. HANDY: Uh-huh.

23 THE COURT: And right now you're pleading guilty 24 to both of those charges um, having just been described to

Commonwealth v. Handy

1 me by the prosecutor, is that correct?

2 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

3 THE COURT: You understand that means you're
4 admitting your guilt and giving up your right to have a 5 trial, including a jury trial?

6 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

7 THE COURT: And at that trial you'd have a right
8 to confront and cross-examine the witnesses, you'd have the 9 right to present evidence on your own behalf, and you have 10 a privilege against self-incrimination, which you're now
11 giving up. Do you understand those rights and privileges?

12 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

13 THE COURT: Have you had enough time to discuss 14 the case with your attorney?

15 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

16 THE COURT: Are you satisfied by his advice?

17 MR. HANDY: Yes, Your Honor.

18 THE COURT: Are you confused by any of my 19 questions?

20 MR. HANDY: No, Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: I cannot ask you whether or not 22 you're a United States citizen, but I must advise you that 23 if you're not, conviction for this offense could have the 24 consequence of deportation, exclusion from admission or

1 denial of naturalization pursuant to the laws of the United
2 States. All right. I will accept the capital plea. Count
3 I is being dismissed by agreement. Count II -- and the 4 Commonwealth's recommendation, actually we'll go on record
5 with it, is not unreasonable, two years committed based on 6 the defendant's record. I'm making these findings based on 7 ah, not only the complaint, but this is also going to 8 trigger other violations that are there. Um, Count II I'm 9 giving him six months committed, credit for the time that 10 he's been in jail. Count III, also six months committed, 11 concurrent, same credit. An order of confiscation and 12 destruction of the weapon.

13 MR. SHYNE: Thank you, Your Honor.

14 THE COURT: Thanks.

15 MR. HUMPHREYS: Ah, thank you, Your Honor.

16 COURT OFFICER: Again, six months house of 17 correction, credit 30 days committed on Count ah, II and 18 III concurrent.

19 MR. SHYNE: Thank you, Your Honor.

20 THE COURT: All right.
